Indecision Delays 2 Highway Projects

BY RICHARD CRABR

Delays are developing on two major highway building projects in Mount Prospect, Plaines and Arlington Heights as a result of indecision in drainage and sewer programs.

Indecision on the Cook County Highway Department, the work has advanced as far as it can until the sewer line location is resolved.

CONSTRUCTION ON GOLF RD. From Elmhurst to Mount Prospect, GOLF Rd. is now under way and is scheduled to be completed before the end of the year. The highway engineers had planned to ward contracts for making a four-lane highway out of GOLF Rd. from Prospect Rd. to Arlington Heights Rd. Some work could have begun before the end of the year. With each additional day of delay, the prospect of this schedule being met becomes more remote, March said.

The Water Creek delay has created no problem west of Arlington Heights Rd. The GOLF Rd. program from Arlington Heights to Meacham Rd. could be completed early in 1969, except for the segment across Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights.

The Elmhurst Rd. project is linked with other highway building to help ease the morning and evening traffic snags now occurring on Illinois 83, Higgins and Algonquin Rds. Illinois 83 is being widened to four lanes from Elmhurst in DuPage County through Mount Prospect, Illinois 83 is a four-lane highway through Oakton, DuPage County.

Illinois 83 now comes north to Oakton as a two-lane highway, turns east to Oakton as a two-lane highway, and then north on Elmhurst Rd. as a two-lane highway.

The Illinois Division of Highways is responsible for building the four-lane Illinois 83 north to Oakton and east on Oakton to Elmhurst. The segment north to Oakton R. & L. to GOLF is the responsibility of the Cook County Highway Department. It is the Elmhurst Rd. segment that is now being delayed by the indecision in locating the Des Plaines sewer line.

AT THE POINT where Illinois 83 reaches Oakton and goes east on Oakton, the highway intersects with both Higgins Rd. (Illinois 72) and Basse Rd. In this area of intersection traffic congestion has become a problem.

The Illinois Division of Highways is not depending upon the rebuilding of Illinois 83 as a four-lane highway to solve all of this traffic congestion. The Division of Highways also is rebuilding Basse Rd. north to GOLF Rd. and is rebuilding the section of Algonquin Rd. (Illinois 52) from Basse east to Elmhurst Rd. The work on the Basse and Algonquin phases of the program is on one schedule, to be completed in 1969, though highway work is scheduled for late this year. Work on other major highway development and building programs in the northwest suburbs is on another schedule. This includes the following projects:

INTERSTATE 90. This is the extension of the Eisenhower Expressway, extending from the Loop west to Elmhurst. The extension will bring Interstate 90 from Elmhurst northwest to the present Illinois 53 from prewar approximately the present intersection at Thorndale and Illinois 53. Then Interstate 90 will run north to the present intersection of Illinois 53 and the Northwest Tollway. The highway department is trying to acquire the site for Interstate 90 from Elmhurst to the Illinois 25-Northwest Tollway intersection by the end of this year. It also is planned to let the contract for highway construction on this project by the end of this year. Interstate 90 is scheduled to be open for use late in 1970.

WEST O'HARE EXPRESSWAY. This is to be a short expressway linking O'Hare and the Fox Valley towns to O'Hare Airport. Though a new east-west selection of the site is scheduled to be completed this year, a public hearing on this new highway is now scheduled for September, the exact date and place to be announced by the end of July. This expressway will be under way on a new schedule to be constructed at O'Hare Airport.

ARLINGTON — The Arlington Heights Rd. interchange on the Northwest Tollway is in the planning and land acquisition stage. Construction is scheduled to begin late this year and completion is expected in the fall of 1969.

Teen's War-Fair Peaceful

An anti-war protest demonstration yesterday in Pioneer Park more closely resembled a garden party with teenagers attracted by the blaring music stopped to dance, look and nod along with protesters from peace groups.

The event, billed as an "Anti-War Fair," was organized by a group of recently-graduated Arlington Heights high school students who call themselves the "Suburban Liberation Front."

Police Chief L. W. Caldwell was on hand as were about 15 plain clothes policemen. There were no disorders, although one parent did stand up in front of his daughter and lead her home. Caldwell said the whole thing was "rough on the ears" and that he would call for an order to control the noise.

Spokesman for the group, Ray Skinner of 712 Lyndon Ln., Arlington Heights, said he was encouraged by the turnout, which he estimated at 200 during a speech by Otto Liljensmo, Lutheran pastor and member of the Chicago Peace Council.

Performance from Guerrilla Theater put on a skit with a twist. One of the skits was "The Service Men," which was represented by the American Friends Service Committee, the Women For Peace and Chicago Area Draft Resisters.

People who park in the lot and do not pay a fee will be fined $5, said Bob at the Post Office, C.R.

Working on Sidewalks, Parking Lot

Work on a new parking lot and sidewalk project is under way at the village hall on Arlington Heights Rd. The lot will provide space for 52 cars.

Removing and replacing broken sidewalks throughout the village also has begun.

The work is being done under a special agreement entered into by the village and the DuPage County.

Home owners who want to improve a sidewalk may hire village engineers and request a cost estimate. The estimate is $25-$300.

The agreement provides for the village and the homeowners to pay 25 cents per square foot for each sidewalk project. The cost of removal and replacement of sidewalks across driveways, estimated to be $100 per driveway, and the village will pay the entire cost of replacement of sidewalks on streets and across dedicated alleys.

The estimate includes cleanup but not seeding or sod replacement.

ABOUT 300 persons attended the anti-war fair in Pioneer Park Sunday, watched a skit put on by the Guerrilla Theater of Chicago, cheer, and danced.

Seven-year-old Terrence Gleason, 1010 E. Taber, Arlington Heights, was struck by a truck near his home Friday morning.

His mother, Mary, told police that the boy drove under the front bumper of a parked truck in a two-mile race.

The driver, Ray A. Hopper, 1217 N. Walnut, was leading trucks in the rear of the truck and apparently did not notice the boy, police noted.

Cullen said that, as the truck started to pull away, the driver noticed the child and attempted to stop. The boy tried to get out of the car when the truck started to move.

The child was taken to Northwest Community Hospital for treatment of wrist and hand injuries.

The boy, who is in the top of the school day to make effective progress in the next days' work. None of them have five classes and a maximum of 140 students.

Advanced placement courses, giving college credit, became 75 to 80 per cent of the graduate go on to college.

However, also needed, especially in science, are more extensive courses for slow learners, according to the Prospect High, says the report, is caught in the trap of having a school bus just before a great transition in high school science education took place.

High school needs better biology labs. Its science teachers, says the report, are musical shows every two years, limited of every year.

PHYSICAL education for both boys and girls is strong in programs and activities and offered by a well-qualified, experienced staff, the team noted.

However, improvements is needed in physical facilities. Here's what the evaluators observed:

Locker rooms for boys are dilapidated, dark, and poorly ventilated. Hallways floors and ceilings near the gym are should be tiled, and brought up to par with the rest of the building.

Girls' gym facilities have inadequate showers, not enough storage space for clothing, books, home economics and a dance room to 40 girls.

It suggests a way in which instrumental music and choir simultaneously presently held in the school building was needed was giving time

Suicide Ruled in Man's Death

A coroner's investigation into the death of Ted C. Folman, 334 N. Walnut, Arlington Heights, has ruled that suicide was the cause of death.

Cook County Sheriff's Police discovered Folman's body at the Sutton quarry on Central Rd. near River Rd. about 9:30 a.m. on the Fourth of July. Folman's body was found in the front seat of the auto with a pistol in his lap. A gun wound was found behind his right ear. Folman was taken to Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines, where, he was pronounced dead.

3 Hurt In Auto Accident

An Arlington Heights man and two Chicagoans suffered minor injuries Friday in an auto accident at a Mount Prospect intersection.

Jack R. Cassella of 2804 N. Vista, Arlington Heights was driving south on Illinois 83 at Euclid Ave. when his vehicle collided with another car, driven by Shaldon R. Hornick, 2311 W. Coyne, Chicago.

According to police, Hornick was driving west on Euclid when Cassella attempted to make a left turn from Illinois 83.

Both drivers and a passenger in Hornick's car, Frederick Netrup, 6342 N. Francisco, Chicago, were treated at Holy Family Hospital and released.

Cassella was charged by police with failure to yield right of way. He is scheduled to appear in Mount Prospect court on July 31.

FAA Urges Pilots To Reduce Noise

BY K. C. RADTKE

Pilots, like drivers, occasionally need a reminder about noise and the community.

After complaints of low-flying planes and aircraft noise, Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) officials at Wheeling's Palwaukee Airport met with village trustees last month.

After the meeting FAA officials issued a letter reminding pilots that noise is a general community problem.

The letter asks pilots to take every precaution to provide the utmost in safety for minimum noise around the airport.

"It's pretty hard to eliminate aircraft noise," said Trimmer, "and, even though we do the best we can (at Palwaukee), some people still complain."

Trimmer said Palwaukee officials frequently have invited "complaining" to the airport for a first-hand insight into the noise problem.

Youngest Students in Dist. 59 Summer School

Student Teacher

BYRON BONE
The youngest school students in the four and five-year age groups are splitting three hours a day in Kindergarten Exploratory experiences, finding out what school will be like when they start kindergarten in September.

OFFERED for the first time this summer, the District 59 program is not planned to give these youngsters formal academic training. Instead, it stresses activities that will be helpful to the children.

"We learn how to follow directions," said Mrs. Virginia Calderale, who teaches the Kindergarten Exploratory class at Mount Prospect's Robert Frost School.

"We learn how to get along with them, how to sit still, how to line up, how to work together."

HOW DO YOU teach these skills to very young children? After all, most four- and five-year-olds don't read. They don't know their alphabet, can't tie their own shoes, are just learning the names of the colors, and most can't print their own names.

"One of the most important things a child can learn," said Mrs. Calderale, "is that school is a wonderful place—that it's fun to work together."

"We use songs and games to show us how. We sing 'Hello' to everybody so that we learn each other's names."

We listen to stories, and this helps to increase the children's attention span. Each day, we tell a little longer story.

"We practice our counting, and we talk about our experiences."

YOUNGSTERS in this class are in other classes, are having fast Clay, Nicotia, picture books, and toys are available.

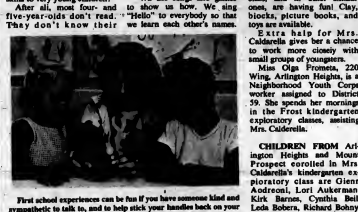

Extra help for Mrs. Calderale gives her a chance to work more closely with small groups of youngsters.

Mrs. Olga Frontus, 220 Wing, Arlington Heights, is a Neighborhood Youth Corps worker assigned to District 59. She spends her mornings in the First Kindergarten Exploratory classes, assisting Mrs. Calderale.

CHILDREN FROM Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect enrolled in Mrs. Calderale's kindergarten exploratory class are Glenn Anderson, Lori Aukerman, Kim Barnes, Cynthia Bell, Lela Roberts, Richard Schip, Thomas Chapman, Cheryl Clinton, Scott Cooper, Linda Delany, Tina Delany, Jodi Decker, Peter Fairbank, Lisa Ferrara, Christine Gierke, Kenneth Hamel, Rasse Heikel, James Henken, John Krus, Leonard Lebeck, Patricia Madhe, David Medved, Jennie Olson.

Russell Kadow, Sandra Rosenstock, Steven Salzman, David Shale, Douglas Selbin, John Sykes, Teresa Tug, Judy Warrick, Laura Williams, and Susan Peck.

Other District 59 buildings in Mount Prospect include Jay, Forest View Elementary, Dempster, Holmes, Juliette Low in Arlington Heights; Devonshire, Bowman, Einstein, and High Ridge Knolls give their obvious interest in books, none of these youngsters enrolled in summer school will get Frost can read. Instead of formal "academic" instruction, they're getting an awareness of what school is all about in their Kindergarten Exploratory class. Lawrence Matlock, 1640 W. 76th St., Chicago, is a teacher at the school. Mrs. Calderale, 736 W. Dempster, all of Mount Prospect, are among the area's youngest summer students. Each will start kindergarten in September.

With two outs, utility man Pat McGrath hit a weak fly ball behind first base. None of the three Wheeling men who converged on the ball were able to make the play, enabling Woodward to score from third with the tying run.

THE SITUATION remained unchanged through the third inning, but the roof caved in on Kenny and the Lions in the fourth inning. A line double by Melzer was the beginning of the end for a tired Kenny. Tba Lion workhorse then yielded a one-bagger to Jay Newman that scored Melzer on a close play at the plate.

THE SITUATION remained unchanged through the third inning, but the roof caved in on Kenny and the Lions in the fourth inning. A line double by Melzer was the beginning of the end for a tired Kenny. The Lions' offense was helped a little by a banger to Jay Newman that scored Melzer on a close play at the plate.

After Craighead and Don Magnuson had reached base on force out plays, Bill Newman cracked a long fly to center field. The ball popped out of Al Feldman's glove, enabling Magnuson to score the fourth Wheeling tally.

The two Wheelers runs in the fifth inning came as a result of a home run by Melzer, his third extra-base hit of the game. Don Wright, who had drawn a walk, scored ahead of Melzer.

After 'War-Fair' Objections

Marks to Review Permit

BY MAXINE TYLER

Commissioners of the Arlington Heights Park District formed a committee to draft an ordinance regulating the use of parks last night while members of protest demonstrated in their block.

"Under legal matters, I think it would be proper to discuss Sunday afternoon," said Thomas Thornton, superintendent of parks of the war-fair held Sunday at Pioneer Park.

"I would like some guidance from the board of park commissioners," said Thornton.

Thornton was referring to a gathering of the park board at the park which was presented a "war-fair" and anti-lar demonstration. The group was organized by the "Southern Liberation Front," sponsored a peaceful, but loud, gathering advocating peace. A rock and roll band, entertainment and a speaker from the Chicago Peace Council were in the parade.

The group reported and received a permit to use the park outside the hours of the assembly.

"THEIR PERMIT was misleading," said Charles B. Croin, president of the board of park commissioners.

Liquor Commissioners Employ Varied Methods on Licensing

BY LARRY WILLS

The mayors of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines have taken different approaches to their most powerful instrument of office, the issuance or revocation of liquor licenses.

Mayors Herbert Haupt of Des Plaines, Donald Conville, Mount Prospect, and John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, all liquor controller commissioners have come to grips with the selection of people to award the licenses to, and where a licensee should be suspended or revoked.

The control over the license by the mayor is, under the law, more or less a matter of judgment, since the law governing the character of the license holders is vague.

State statutes require that "any licensee holder must be of good character, of good moral habits, and of good reputation in the community, and that he shall be a resident of the municipality."

WHAT ACTION "falls under the heading" "discretion or morality" is not spelled out in the statutes, however, and is determined by the liquor commissioner involved.

In his capacity as what Mount Prospect Village Attorney John Zinkiewicz calls, "the enforcer of the state law," which the state itself cannot enforce, the liquor controller commission, Zinkiewicz said, could not check on all the licensee holders and therefore must rely upon the municipal

Each mayor has dealt with the problem in a different way. Congress has held five hearings on alleged violations of state laws in the past six months. The violations included serving less than the required one ounce of unopened liquor, being open on Sunday, before noon, having an employee allegedly selling marijuana on the premises and serving liquor to intoxicated persons. Congress has taken upon his shoulders all the responsibility for the licenses, though at one time he disgraced two village trustees in investigating a bowtie alley financial situation.

Woods has taken a different approach. Though it is not required by law, he consults the village manager, the village board and the police department before taking any action. In doing this, he apparently seeks the concurrence of his government in order to avoid appearing arbitrary in his decision. Woods recently decided not to renew a license because of the owner's alleged relationship to a undesirable element.

Belmont, on the other hand, refused to revoke the liquor license of an establishment when the owner was reported to be related to a member of the crime syndicate. Calling such an action "discrimination," he said the owner should be judged upon his own character.

REVOCAION OF A license to this state can be financially disastrous. The law requires that the owner of the license revoked never again may hold a liquor license and that the establishment involved may not receive a license for one year to another when the property subsequently might be sold.

Liquor license holders have a right to appeal to the state liquor control commission, which can uphold or reverse the action.

a municipal commission decision. The state commission also can reduce time of suspension within a municipality. If the holder does not receive satisfaction from the municipal appeal further to the circuit court and from the Illinois Supreme Court.

If the village or township's ruling is void, the village government may appeal through the court channels.

Specifically, tavernkeeper must post any level of the appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court.

law or that it did what charged violations without a malice or whatever occurred in the vicinity of the tavern was the responsibility of the owner. The owner must comply with an appeal restrictions, which means those already mentioned, including serving no intoxicants, habitual drunkenness and even gunshots.

District 23 Seeks Lower Bid on New Grade School

Because construction bids on the proposed state-built school are $75,000 to $100,000 higher than anticipated, the Project Heights Board of Education is considering cheaper alternatives.

The bids were opened last Tuesday in the Illinois School Building Commission office in Joliet. The school is to be built on a 116-acre lot at the corner of McDonald and Elm Sts., opposite School Lock Rd. 17 in Project Heights.

The 17-classroom elementary school originally was estimated to cost $358,900. It was for this amount that the referendum approving the project was passed on Nov. 18, 1967.

Architect Ron De Young, of the firm Alexander, Barkon, Weiss and Young, a local architect who designed the building, is analyzing the bids.

"We HAVE reasonable assurance that we will get the best possible bid," De Young and board representatives will meet again with the Illinois School Building Commission next week, De Young said.

Under the plan, the school will be built with state funds allocated by the Illinois School Building Commission. The building will be located in the school district for 16 2/3 years. After that time, the school would become the property of Wheeling Township.

planned by September, 1969, will have 17 classrooms in two stories and a multipurpose room and offices in a one-story wing.

Tag Days in Eight Towns Aid Opportunity Center

Rolling Meadows and McLean Estates playboy again Friday's League of Women Voters tag day, making a total of eight communities aiding in fund raising for the Northwest Opportunity Center.

Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Plainfield, Oak Grove Village, Wheeling, Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates.

More than 100 volunteers will help sell bags, according to Mrs. Trevor.

She said that co-operation from various local groups into the project has produced overall community interest.

The center, concentrating on local social counseling, offers evening classes in English and basic education, free legal counseling, clothing, medical aid and transportation to hospitals.

Mrs. Jack White, Mrs. Benson Brown and Mrs. Bernhardt are heading the tag days. Arlington Heights tag day, June 15, was in charge.

In Elk Grove Village, and Mrs. Trevor heads the Rolling Meadows drive. Mount Prospect leaders are Mrs. John V. Bane and Mrs. Margaret Dineen. Mrs. Sammie Ainsley is in charge in Wheeling.

State Postpones Liquor License Appeal Hearing

A hearing before the Illinois State Liquor Commission to appeal the denial, June 11 of a license to the Arlington Heights, Ill. bar, was postponed until August.

The hearing was held at 8 N. Val, Arlington Heights. Howard S. Cartwright, chairman of the commission, said he rescheduled the hearing at the request of Arlington Heights Attorney Jack Hagg.

Mr. Hagg said that he was forced to close his business because of his application for a liquor license was denied. Benefield charged that no reason was given by the mayor of denial of his application.

Benefield said that he acquired the business in October, 1967, and immediately applied for a license. The license of the previous owner expired in April, 1968. Benefield applied to the liquor control commission, saying that he has been given no reason for being turned down.

A Chicago expert and Mark Twain expert, Frankie Milne, will lecture at 8 p.m. tonight in the DuSable Room of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library on "Mark Twain's Fast Story."

The lecture is the first of a series sponsored by the American Friends of the Library.

Milne will discuss Twain's works, especially his first work, written when Twain was 16 years old.

In the Columbia University campus study of the anti-establishment movement, SDS members have been able to make a name for themselves in the past few years, using a few standard techniques of the anti-establishment movement.

Some SDS leaders have consistently attempted to involve as many young people as possible in SDS actions. Once they have a political program, or have been in a strong emotional conference with the police or other authorities, the SDS members are committed to fighting the establishment. They have no other plans to go.

Wrought Iron

As American as the Pilgrims

BY MARILYN HELLERS Women's Editor

Wrought iron is as American as the Pilgrims who landed in Jamestown, Virginia, in 1607. James Cook, a blacksmith, went along with the first group of colonists.

The first full-fledged wrought iron furniture in America was developed at Pottery Creek, Va., in 1621, but was wiped out during the Revolutionary War. By 1750 Virginia was exporting iron tools to England. Close about the middle of the 19th century all American black-forged iron was made in one of the centers of wrought iron. Today the popularity of wrought iron furniture has reached new peaks.

Primarily used on patios and lawns, it is now coming indoors and can be found in kitchens, family rooms and dining rooms.

JUNE WOODARD, consultant to L. L. Woodard Bros., Inc., points out that wrought iron furniture, attributed to the growing popularity in a number of periods, still, the mixing of various styles, styles and materials, once considered a touchy subject, is now being undertaken by today's sophisticated homemaker.

"Many homemakers," Miss Woodard comments, "have found that replacing a wood table and chair set with a wrought iron one, while retaining the wood buffet, china cabinet, or hutch, is an easy way to avoid monotony and achieve a collected look that they desire."

With the added emphasis on wrought iron furniture, designers specializing in indoor dining, the homemaker can really find a set that suits her taste and her home's decor.

Third with the wide variety of table sizes now available, and the introduction of expandable table tops, the homemaker can choose a wrought iron set to meet her family's particular needs.

TABLE TOPS come in round, rectangular, square and octagonal shapes with a choice of table-top materials such as natural wood, plastic laminate, and fiberglass, as well as glass and steel mesh.

The homemaker may prefer her own upholstery material to select from linen, cotton, rayon, nylon and acetate in solid colors and patterns.

Woodard claims collections for indoor dining include the Triangle group, an 18th Century French design; Florence, romantically Italian in feeling; Orleans, with a French Quarter motif; Chantilly, a wrought iron design with a classic rose and leaf theme; and Andalusian, with a strong Spanish flavor.

There's a choice of space-saving pedestal or standard four-legged table models in size finishes, including cast Blue, Black, Moss Green, and Walnut. Garden of White, Chalk White, Pompeian Green, Sunflower Yellow and Tawny Blue. Finishes, applied by a special metalizing process, carry a five-year warranty against rust.

IN SELECTING the size of the table you need, allow at least two feet of room for each person with it. If you select arm chairs, allow another four inches per person.

Where and how the table is to be used should determine the choice of table tops. "A natural wood top, in a light or dark walnut, will complement other furnishings in a formal dining room," the style consultant said. "Plastic laminate in wood tones or Persian leather patterns, or fiberglass that looks like stone or mosaic tile, would be a good choice for a busy kitchen breakfast room."

If you're having a small area, you can access the open feeling by choosing a chair or transom that is light and top.

For those that blend with any setting...here a wrought iron pedestal dining set by Lee L. Woodard Bros., Inc. complements the figure rug, upright piano and the natural stone back collection for the window. The 46-inch diameter pedestal top expands to a 72-inch table, large enough to seat eight people comfortably. The top is a classic Parkwood laminate in a sweet finish and chairs have padded seats for comfort.

Wrought iron kitchen furniture, with its light mode and open work design, creates an illusion of spaciousness in a relatively small space. The safety-transom top glides up and down in the feeling of openness.

Joins Hospital Staff

Frederick J. Volpi, M.D., has joined the staff of Northwestern-Community Memorial as pathologist, replacing the position of Dr. Thomas Hoodwood who recently resigned.

Dr. Volpi, a resident of Northbrook, is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, Loyola University and took his intern and residency training at Oberlin Municipal Hospital, Wayne State University and Cook County Hospital.

Licensed to practice in Illinois since 1954, he is certified by the American Board of Pathology, a Fellow of the American College of Medicine.

Prior to his association with Northwestern Community Hospital, he was the pathologist at West Suburban Hospital in Oak Park.

As new Northwest Community Hospital pathologist, Dr. Frederick J. Volpi will be responsible for the laboratory and blood bank as well as the surgical pathology section.

NSA Annual Convention July 16-20

The Park-Plains Chapter of NSA will have three members among the 1,200 in attendance at the 23rd annual convention of the National Secretaries Association (International) convenes at the Portland Hilton Hotel, Portland, Oregon, July 16-20. Mrs. Audrey Raasch, secretary to Stanley C. Ameron, vice president of manufacturing, Chicago Engineering Co. in Mount Prospect, who serves the chapter as president will be the voting delegate.

The alternate will be Mrs. Louise Killo, secretary to F.R. Santelli, principal at Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights.

Accompanying the official delegates and alternate will be Miss Gloria Ray, secretary to George D. Wandman, building commissioner, City of Peoria.

The National Secretaries Association is the world's leading secretarial association with 26,000 members in 50 chapters throughout the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico and with significant affiliations in Mexico, Panama, the Bahamas, and blood bank as well as the surgical pathology section.

we care

why should we guarantee other people's products?

If we didn't, we couldn't honestly say WE CARE. Could we?

You see, before any product is allowed on our shelves, we've checked it out pretty carefully.

We've checked the company that makes it.

We've checked to be sure the product is all the package says it is.

If you ever buy anything at A&P you're not happy with, you don't have to bother to write a letter to the company that made it. Just tell your A&P store manager. He'll give you your money back. We'll get in touch with that company for you...and for us.

That's A&P's guarantee.

No matter who makes it, if A&P sells it, A&P guarantees it.

Not every store can offer you a guarantee like that. A&P can...and does. Shouldn't A&P be your store?

WE DIDN'T HIT 500!

We've missed our 500-car sales mark by just a few cars but we're happy to report the biggest sales boost in our 3-year history at John Mufich Buick. You'll recall that our last year's sales goal for a similar period was 400-cars. We've surpassed that by 24 this year even though we fell short of our first 500, 1968 at John Mufich Buick will be a record year because of a record May-June, the record-selling Buick and Opel... and a most cooperative auto audience. We wish to thank you for this wonderful co-operation. Our sales success in the highly competitive automotive business is a testimony of your faith in our organization. You can be sure we are going to continue giving you the consideration, value and service that has earned for us your valued patronage and support. Naturally, we are proud of our organization, our growth and our record and we most sincerely invite you... in case you missed out on our recent campaign... to come in. We can and will make you the kind of a deal that will make you proud too. You've helped us and we're only more than willing to see to it that you can still have the kind of a deal you want in New Buicks, Opels and used cars too. We really do appreciate your business.

Sincerely,
JOHN MUFICH

Educators Report on Elk Grove High:

'Pupils Need Urban Awareness'

BY JAY BONE
Fifth in a Series

What kinds of subjects should Elk Grove High School offer if it is to aid progress in the northwest suburbs area?

This is one of the questions raised by an evaluation team from North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, which visited all five of District 214's high schools.

The report expressed concern that large numbers of Elk Grove pupils could become school-unaware of the problems of urban life and their impact on the future.

More planning with junior high school personnel was suggested for math, physical education and art courses. An exchange of exhibits might interest more students in Elk Grove's art program.

Local exhibits from universities, shown by professional artists and group exhibitions from art leagues would help the school, according to the report. Also suggested are a creative photography course and a photo lab.

IN MOST of the major areas there are as many as five shifty levels, manual, slow, average, fast and better.

As students change their performance in course, they may be moved to different classes. Several times during the school year, teachers re-evaluate students and shift them to higher or lower levels.

One plan Elk Grove High School is using for Self-Imposed Scheduling allows 400 terms to decide how they want to spend their school day. They may be in class where they are normally scheduled or they may choose to visit other teachers, spend time in the cafeteria or do extra lab work.

Needed, says the evaluation report, is another look at how well this program is working out. "We found a relatively large number of students in the cafeteria area in purely social pursuits," says the report.

Art, business education, distributive education, driver education, English, foreign language, home economics, industrial arts, mathematics, music, physical education, science, social studies, vocational trade and industrial education and special education classes are offered to students in all, 187 courses are offered.

VISITING educators graded several features at Elk Grove High School. Among them are:

—A shoehorn laboratory with tapes of shorthand theory and speed-reading exercises.

—Lay readers in the English program, the well-equipped humanities resource center and a unit on Negro contribution to literature.

Science labs that are opened to students on Saturday mornings, with teachers getting extra pay to supervise them.

An effective program of student activities, including newspaper, yearbook, band, sports and a strong Student Council.

The man's verdict on Elk Grove High School outside:

But the education staff would like to see more students and local people involved in the planning of courses.

Many students have worthwhile opinions and ideas, says the report. Teachers and administrators should listen.

People in the community should be used as sources to a greater extent by classifying residents have talents and experience which could help the educators. Elk Grove could make a series of such people, the teachers suggest, and all teachers could use it.

Elk Grove High School could develop a public relations program to get its message across to the community. The police commission is a good idea.

UNTIL 1975, the village of Elk Grove was farmland. Now, 17,000 people live in its approximately 4,000 homes.

THE GOV. RONALD REAGAN—"There is no sensitive question with Gov. Reagan. I am going to California on July 20 and 21 and then for a few days vacation. I am not going to visit the California delegation. I respect the favorite son position. I called Gov. Reagan today and reported on my plans. He is to be at the governor's conference, but if he returns before I leave, I will call on him."

This was Nixon's first public visit to this area since President Johnson ordered Secret Service protection in major presidential candidates. The number of secret service men with the Nixon party remained a secret. Every party member either the press conference and the delegates' reception was televised. Secret service required no re-references.

More for Less: School Problem

The board of education of Arlington Heights School District 25 will meet this evening at 7:30 p.m. at the South to look a solution to the problem of overcrowding. High bids on the new Open Kindergarten High School were opened on Tuesday, and the lowest bid was approximately a quarter of a million dollars higher than the estimate.

If additional funds cannot be found, the building will have to be erected within the $2 million provision by bonds approved at referendum in 1967.

A critical question will be how to provide for the hundreds of pupils who will be attending the new school in 1970, and the lowest bid will reduce the size of the building enough to adjust to the increase in pupil enrollment in the class reflected in the bid.

32 Ways to Make Dark Green

THE ARLINGTON DAY
Thursday, July 11, 1968 Page 3

By JAY BONE

How many ways are there to make dark green? Of 32 equal one purple and yellow plus light green equals brown. Art class.

It's Math Expression class in District 39 for children who have finished first and second grades. They're using Cuisenaire rods—small, colored rods of wood which are cut to different lengths.

Rods are color-coded, so that the first letter, which represents one unit, is white. The rod which is twice as long is red. The rod which is three times as long is light green.

"Four" is purple, "five" is yellow, "six" is dark green, "seven" is black, "eight" is brown, "nine" is blue and "ten" is orange.

When children put two red rods together to equal one purple rod, they're actually adding two and two, getting four.

District 39's math coordinator, for Judge taught a Cuisenaire rod lesson last week to children in William T. Hunt at Ripley School.

He asked those 7 and 8-year-olds to find out how many different ways they could add the numbers and get the answer of four.

USING THE rods, which they call "trainers," the youngsters figured out that there are four ways in which they could place rods together to match the light green rod which represents three units in length. They're eight ways in which they could make purple, representing four.

There were 22 different ways in which they can place rods together to get a length equivalent to the dark green rod, which represents five.

"As the rods increase arithmetically," said Judge, "the number of ways increases geometrically. And the children could see this."

Also part of the lesson Judge taught was a math game playing "Simon Says" with color bands and go-borders.

Go-borders are smaller wooden squares stacked with 23 nails. Children can stretch rubber bands around any of the nails, forming geometric patterns like squares, triangles and diamonds.

In the "Simon Says" game, Judge had the children match the patterns he showed them. Other popular math games Titch has been using at Ripley include mirror cards, in which children try to duplicate pictures by finding up to mirror, with lead up the image.

It's something like putting half of a Valentine heart up to a mirror to get the complete Valentine.

Three-dimensional Tic-Tac-Toe is a favorite with these youngsters.

"OUR GOAL," said Titch, "is not to bring them up to a certain level in math or to give them work which is too advanced. Instead, we're trying to show them that math can be fun and take away some of the fear of working with numbers."

Shirley Wynn, Devonshire math teacher, agreed.

"If it can be fun to a child, he can just enjoy it. It has a purpose in the classroom."

Children like Ripley School's math experience under the watch of William Titch are Vince Allen, Daniel Bone, Mark Angellotti, Randy Burkholder, Martin Carbone, Keith and Krue Kowalski, Susan Morgan, Marianne Morrison, Vicki Morson, Brian Parker, Debbie Benz, Kim Schick, John Stevens, James Titch, David Wallen, Kenneth Wildboer, Mark Zerk and Craig Zerk.

IN ADDITION, Judge took time out last week to try what he called a "non-verbal" math lesson with high-grade Knolls children in the pre-kindergarten readiness class. These children won't start regular school till September.

Judge has suggested that his teachers use other children in their classes to work with younger students in other words, a third-grade "helper" may give a first-grade how to do math.

"To any children who may comment," Judge told his teachers, "please feel free to blame me for what may happen. It's a perfect situation. For any special-planning economists, take full credit yourself."

Parks Get Fertilizer Free

An $8,000 savings will be made by the Arlington High Park District thanks to a gift from the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Parks Supt. Thomsen said the gift was a written request for the fertilizer and received Tuesday night that the sanitary district had offered fertilizer to the parks.

Thomsen said he requested 200 tons of the "best dried" activated sludge. This fertilizer costs about $40 a ton from a supplier, Thomsen said.

The superintendent also submitted a written request for the fertilizer and received Tuesday night that the sanitary district had offered fertilizer to the parks.

First of 20 New Coaches Due

Wondering what to do with your $1.5 million? For that amount you could buy 20 new double-deck train coaches. The rest will be for the Chicago and North Western Ry. is buying.

The first of the 20 coaches ordered several months ago are due this week, according to railroad spokesman Frank Koval. The rest will be arriving at the rate of about one a week.

Already the largest fleet of coaches in the world, the new number of coaches owned by the Chicago & North Western will be 267, Koval said.

"This represents an investment of $55 million in rolling stock," Koval said. "Counting the stations and the stock, the railroad is worth $70 million."

"It's interesting to note," he said, "that 90 per cent of the double-deck coaches in the world are concentrated in Chicago. But this is more than just a coincidence. Chicago probably has the best transit system in the country."

"ALL OF our suburban coaches are double-deckers, as are those belonging to the Milwaukee Road and the Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railroad. The Rock Island Line has some and the Illinois Central is looking into the possibility of getting some electrified double-deckers."

With its own addition of 20 coaches, the Chicago & North Western Ry. will have 3,200 more seats, Koval said.

"Our policy is to buy extra equipment before we need it. Our passenger load has been growing at the rate of about four or five per cent a year."

"So right now we are planning to accommodate what we feel our needs will be by this fall and winter."

"This is the fifth time we have added equipment to our line since our complete modernization in 1961 when we replaced all our old equipment with new."

Traffic Jam

By Catherine O'Donnell

Black as the pit from Polk's to the corner coin shop was the parking area of the Arlington Market yesterday. The car trucks came at 9 a.m. and started on the south end. By four p.m. the soupy stuff was smothering the neighborhood, looking very black and unsmothered and had created a monumental, miniature parking jam in cars nudged for the curbside spaces.

It should look great when they finish the north end tomorrow.

Another project underway is that of the Shogunate lights. If any resident held out hope for the ancient fixtures, they can accept things as they are.

The new long poles are resting on the parkway waiting to be put up.

NORWESCO, SI, MANA

TOMORROW is the League of Women Voters' Tag Day in the communities of Palatine, Elk Grove Village, Des Plaines, Arlington Heights and Hoffman Estates.

The Tag Day is being held for the benefit of the Northwest Opportunity Center which is being funded out of existence by the holders of the power strip for the poverty program. Valiant attempts by the local churches and the League may save off the Wolf for awhile but now is the time for home long range planning if the very effective center is to remain in existence.

State Legislators Eugenia Chapman, David Regner and Eugene Schlickman have it in their official power to hold back the rule. Because the Wrestling Township government is headed by a particularly sane gentleman and because a dedicated tax assessor, the township is usually blessed with surplus funds at the end of each fiscal year.

Albert Peters is the township supervisor and Marjorie Annen Carter is the tax assessor and the funds are surplus because residents have formed the habit of paying their taxes directly to Marjorie. The township however cannot expend funds without the specific authority of the State Legislature.

The State Legislature has in its power to help Norwesco, Peters explained.

"They could sponsor a bill so that it would be legal for funds to be expended by a service organization. This is a good idea because our budget meeting will not be held until April.

Last year's budget included an appropriation of $150,000 to the school districts with grades one through eight in the township. Through passage of special bills in Springfield, we were able to include on the budget $10,000 to the local Historical Society, $2,500 to the Senior Citizens, as well as $35,500 to the Mental Health program.

That is more than $200,000 of the $300,000 surplus we had if all of the township's expenditures by Norwesco were in a similar position, the passage of a state bill would allow us to help take care of them. I understand that they are a very worthwhile organization."

At is not certain just how the people could let Mrs. Chapman, Schlickman and Regner know they'd like to see the bill passed. "I suppose they could write letters," he said.

So go Norwesco. Write a letter, support the church collection and encourage this poor baby organization that strugled so hard to live to continue to live. And make sure that the League Tag Day is a success tomorrow. It's a community project that will be pointed at with pride for years to come. Viva la Tag Day.

Down with Uddike? Never!

Just finally got around to reading my annual summer list. I really try to avoid the "best of" list, as one could find them in the town here... but this year I did it.

John Uddike, one of my favorite authors, had a book in the number two spot, and I gave in. The title of the novel is "Uddike". Now, to pass off this book as merely entertaining, somewhat reading would be a great injustice.

Furthermore, it would be downright dangerous, for if one were to read this early story of affluent suburbia in a hamlet, there is a good chance that one just might use one's self as a cocoon and suffocate to death.

NOW IS THERE a anyone left who is not already familiar with the plot of "Couple", I'll try to reduce it to its least common (and I use the term with malice and forethought) denominator.

The book is concerned with the so-called ABC's of suburban living. That is, adultery, booze and big cars. In order of importance.

And with the couples in the story expounding so much on sex and money on A and B's it's no wonder that they have nearly looking leaves.

Uddike is a writer of this there is no doubt at all. He describes the amorous adventures of his couples who live in the New England towns of Tisbury, now THERE is a name for you!

THEY HAVE LONG been an admirer of John Uddike, nevertheless, I must admit that my first reaction to the them was a negative foreboding, the characters seem to lack vitality. They come off as cardboard stereotypes of self-indulgent, middle-class, middle-aged couples who are preoccupied to scotch-and-water with the same ease that they might to a trifling and poetic style.

But the reader should make a point to keep track of who is sleeping with whom.

Above halfway through the novel, however, my moment of slight aversion, or, as James Joyce would have said, I experienced a "little epiphany" and my faith in Uddike was renewed.

Uddike's style is deliberate. The entire story is a fabulous "put on" by an intellectual genius with an instinct for the novel.

By giving his characters no little depth... so much similarity... and by allowing them to change places with each other, he makes a most current comment on today's social mores.

In Tisbury, as in the world-at-large, there is a great deal of love-making but precious little real love.

Strong Gains At North West Federal Savings

North West Federal Savings, 4901 W. Irving Park Rd., Chicago, reported strong gains over the first six months of this year.

Charles H. Bennett, president, reports that total assets now have reached an all-time high of nearly $24 million. Since Jan. 1, assets have grown by $14 million and total mortgage loans now over $8 million. These gains resulted in increased assets of nearly $5.5 million.

Dividends paid for the semi-annual period exceed $2.25 million.

Rec'd said that "these record-high dividends were paid only on dividend savings."

North West Federal plans to pay dividends in May of this year.

Now with certificates paying 5% per cent, the bank's savings earning 5% per cent annually, North West Federal savers will receive one large dividend payment in the future.

North West Federal ranks as the eighth largest savings and loan association in Chicago.

Horoscope

FOR FRIDAY
CANCER (June 22 - July 23) - Make up for the month's missed pleasures at your leisure. Be alert to your emotional and intellectual responses to others.
LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) - An excellent day for a bargain, especially if you're forced to be budget-minded. Take care not to accept the first offer, however.
VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) - Enjoy a day of life professional or business pressure. Join friends for lunch; swap tales with an old friend.
LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) - You can make up for time lost: Avoid overexertion, however, or you may be in for more trouble than you bargained for.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 23) - Think personal problems through thoroughly before attempting to come to a conclusion. Self-analysis is difficult.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 23) - You will find your own responses if you are honest: Be poor. Take the optimistic approach if you would find solutions.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) - Best gains come through things closest to home. This is not the time for beginning to expand your horizons.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) - Clear away business tensions in an atmosphere of social relaxation. Business associates can be fun, too.
PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 21) - Matters vital to family security must not be put off any longer. Take time now for them—or you may not have time later.
ARIES (March 22 - April 20) - To gain interesting and possibly important information regarding employment, meet with others on a social plane.
TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) - Best results come from attending strictly to business. Don't give in to the temptation to start the weekend a day early.
GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) - It will take direction, tact, and a great deal of wisdom to put professional information acquired now to profitable use.

Realism in Paintings

Imported Oils at Stephany Arts

BY LOU ANN BLAIR

If you like realism in your paintings, you will appreciate the "Imported Oils" at Stephany Arts at temporary European art gallery in downtown.

Anna Silka and her daughter Stephany both have considerable art backgrounds and interests in the various styles. Silka's appreciation for art increased as Stephany continued her studies at the Chicago Art Institute and the American Academy of Art.

THE IDEA for their own art store evolved naturally and Mrs. Silka prepared herself to go into business by first working in a shop of this nature. Her daughter, Stephany, a friend of hers, had been searching for and making contact with artists and galleries in Europe.

The Italian Florentine painter Cennino Cennini was one of the featured artists. For his oil painting, "The Virgin and Child," Stephany received a commission to paint a portrait of her mother and her work has an unique quality quality about it. Cennino Cennini's flat, unadorned and unfurnished and Mrs. Silka and Stephany do this work at the shop. The frames are imported from Mexico and Belgium.

THE SHOP carries not only framed oil paintings in price from $20 to $300 but also original paintings, a good line of bronzes, canvas cut to size and stretched. Stephany is skilled in restoration of old paintings which have lost their color.

Frames are available for purchase. The paintings are received flat, unadorned and unfurnished and Mrs. Silka and your own paintings if desired. In one corner of the shop is the living room corner with a fireplace and a large painting of a woman by Mrs. Silka's mother.

Mrs. Silka and Stephany are interested in bringing to the community a shop where you can browse, buy a painting and feel free to return it if you are not completely satisfied.

SELECTING the right

painting for that particular spot in the living room can be a problem. For a while this summer they will have Sunday hours to the entire family can help in making a selection.

of the near future Mrs. Silka said she will be interested in having a display of local artists and display some of her own work.

Special highlights of this week's World Tour will include a concert at the Arlington Heights, Ind., and a performance at the Arlington Heights, Ind., and a performance at the Arlington Heights, Ind.

New Arrival

Jennifer Sun, 6, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Berghs of Arlington Heights, is the latest arrival at the Arlington Heights, Ind. Jennifer has two sisters, Sally, 4, and Karen, 2.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berghs of Arlington Heights, Ind. Jennifer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Berghs of Arlington Heights, Ind.

Luck Charms Work For Junior Women

The luck charms of the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club worked for them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher. Bob Niles awarded trophies to Mr. and Mrs. John Niles and the 9th grade annual husband-wife golf outing, wasn't that just great. It had been for the last two years.

The unusual afternoon of golf found members playing with two balls, including the 34-year-old wife of the 34-year-old husband. The winners were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bach, last number of putts, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Becker, highest number of putts, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chadwick, longest drive with a caddy.

Banking School

Robert M. Schweigert, assistant vice president of the Bank and Trust Co. of Arlington Heights, will attend the summer session of the school of commerce banking at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Aug. 4 to 16.

One Mother's Tale of Germ Warfare

BY MARY BRUCE

Most families take the birth of their children as a joyful event and after some adjustments in family living, return to their normal lives. At least, one mother's arrival in a world of pain.

Not me, I took one look at my absolutely magnificent child and decided that he would be the most beautiful, smart, prettiest, healthiest baby on the block. Quite a big act, even one at all. But to do all of those and more it took to give birth to my little girl, even more.

MY LITTLE GIRL who is now 10 months old, even hoped for a head room of her dressed in a white eyelid pinholes, long perfect curls, sparkling blue eyes and perfect skin and cream complexion.

To accomplish all this, she would be kept clean and healthy. Therein lies the downfall. I didn't reckon with the germ and Daddy.

But right then and there I was committed to the Battle of Germ Warfare, little realizing there was to be a psychological warfare too.

MY CAMPAIGN began immediately after I was able to get up and put my dress on. My biggest stumbling blocks were the grandparents and assorted relatives who along with the proud father (who wasn't known a germ if he met one) kept reminding that infant and breaking their germ all around the place.

For weeks I went around offering everyone in sight a new new hospital mat, or asked them to please stop breathing so much. But no one showed much interest in either offer.

I kept my advice and continued by battle with the germ by washing, scrubbing, boiling, and spraying every logical corner where the baby might be hiding. Never let it be said, that the spoon that had touched my natty old grandchild should ever be used again.

THINGS WENT along rather well, so long as the germ in her crib, but things really began to change when she started to crawl. By this time she and her Daddy had formed a conspiracy, as he was forever letting her crawl around the germy floor and about her mother's neck and arms were healthy.

Oh, yes, now I had dog germ to cope with, and what nightmares that gave me. While I was recuperating from a severe case of the flu, someone had the nerve to pop her into the house and to tempt to delight her no and to send the dog in to smell the dog in the house. It was the worst thing I ever did.

Bracing myself, I went back to my battle, ever mindful of a "clean house is a healthy house."

MEANWHILE, we were blessed with another preemie, but as marvelous as the first. But it was a little difficult for her to breathe, and extra bottles and such.

During the early months, I continued my cleaning, scrubbing, boiling, and spraying. I continued my cleaning, scrubbing, boiling, and spraying. I continued my cleaning, scrubbing, boiling, and spraying.

During the early months, I continued my cleaning, scrubbing, boiling, and spraying. I continued my cleaning, scrubbing, boiling, and spraying. I continued my cleaning, scrubbing, boiling, and spraying.

AT THIS STAGE of the game I was beginning to have one's doubts about who was fighting, who was winning, and who was having the most fun out of life. I do know my kids were healthy. They had the luckiest mother but they sure were healthy.

Last one spring when I was released from the hospital after recovering from a virus they haven't even classified yet. My 2½ and my 3½ year old, along with their Daddy surprised me from the safety of our bedroom doorway (grins you know).

After three days in the hospital I could look to him like a new eye. There stood two average, normal looking little girls with unburned and peeling noses, dirty torn shirts, hair matted, scratching mosquito bites, sharing a bottle of warm milk.

Forthrightly raised by head and asked why they were both straining out of their mouths.

"OH" FATHER replied cheerfully. "We used up all the clean dishes and since I saw you'd want to sterilize them all, we'll let them go. We've been using the same dishes ever again."

Accepting defeat, I lay back my weary head. Too bad I got, you lost! The only way to win was to fight first with fire. With great courage I accepted a new way from the warm, germ, cold bottle and wash, and in the hope that I'd win.

The results haven't been marvellous, but only had the flu once last winter. And as usual my dirty, germ, kids are as healthy as ever.

It must be a good lesson in all this, but I'm not going to worry about it anymore. I'm going out and ship billions of kids in my item to have the root beer.

"get around"

"Warms" know why McDonald's is my happy place? You see, I'm a sign painter and I get around to all kinds of places. Well, McDonald's is the only place where I can't be a sign painter. I'm a sign painter and I get around to all kinds of places. Well, McDonald's is the only place where I can't be a sign painter. I'm a sign painter and I get around to all kinds of places. Day by Day

Dirty (Baker's) Dozen

By Catherine O'Donoghue

When Mrs. Gordon Rainbird of S. Harvard met her two friends from Mount Prospect, Mrs. Paul Braden and Mrs. Lynn Kister, they usually bring their children along.

The combined number of children is 12 and their ages range from 1 through 10. Twelve children plus three mothers usually looks like a friendly neighborhood group. They achieved their peak of popularity at the movies and they're big on a shopping expedition to Randolph.

According to K. Rainbird, mother of Julie and Robin, they had their first hour on a recent picnic in Buse Wood, just off Higgins Rd. in Elk Grove Village. The children and their mothers see their picnic lunch and played games, but to make the effort a real event, they had a guest, Derryl Carlson, of S. Harvard.

When the players tired of the game, they asked for something to go on a hike. Derryl, Julie, Debbie, Richard, the other Richard, David and Debra went. No one was worried when they did not return immediately. They had been to the park and the kids had been to Scout training. When they didn't return the three mothers went into the woods calling them. They are very big broods. Two and a half hour later, the leaders appeared — in two sections. They missed the well-worn Scout path and wound up in the vicinity of Elk Grove High School, about five miles away. The second section, composed of Derryl, Richard and Debra, came in later. They had been separated, not found the trail of the others by following Toonle Hill road again. The first section stopped at the house of Arlington Heights Rd. "Mrs. Kanger gave me the telephone number to call me when you got home," said Derryl. "The third mothers are debating whether or not they should concentrate on movies."

BULL SNATCHERS
IN STONINGTON
The story of the Stonington lights reached a new high in something like a historic hour from the association to the residents of the village. The residents of the village called the lights "Bull Snatchers" because they felt that the lights were snatching the souls of the children. The only thing that the mothers have got going is that the children are completely uninterested in the lights. The children are completely uninterested in the lights. The children are completely uninterested in the lights.

EMERGENCY
July 11th of a girl named Derryl had her maid on the street. The maid had been caught in the act of stealing. The maid had been caught in the act of stealing. The maid had been caught in the act of stealing.

Real Estate Salesman Of The Day

LOU MOREL

REPRESENTATIVE

Falkanger Real Estate

As the Sales Manager for Falkanger Real Estate, Lou Morel helps the sales staff keep their noses to the authentic grindstone that was recently acquired in the busy Palatine office.

Lou is a native of Chicago who attended Lane Tech, and Wright Jr. College before serving with the Army from 1959 to 1961 where he was stationed in Texas. After leaving the Army he married Sharon, in April of '62, who is a registered nurse at Lutheran General Hospital. Lou, Sharon, 4-year old Daniel and Sam the Schnouzer live in Palatine where they keep active in community, neighborhood, and church affairs. Lou is a member of the Palatine Jaycees, and he teaches Sunday school at the Palatine Presbyterian Church.

Lou has completed Real Estate courses in Sales and Brokerage, Principles of Real Estate Law, and Appraisal, and finds the challenging field of real estate a worthwhile endeavor particularly suited to his outgoing personality.

YOUR REALTOR HAS EXPERIENCE THAT CAN SAVE YOU TIME, EFFORT AND MONEY!

It pays to do business with a REALTOR or one of their representatives. They know the local Real Estate market as it really is - not from hearsay!

They have experience in buying and selling property that can save you time, effort and money. As a third party, they can aid buyer and seller to reach agreeable terms.

Cory Ferguson helps to build up the Braves' run total in the fourth inning, scoring on an error on catcher Jerry Delmonico. Cub hurler Jim Nicholson looks on and watches from the thought of another run coming safety.

Game of the Day

Braves Grab Extra Frame Game, 8-7

BY LINDA GAMMILL

Despite a six-run first inning for the Cubs, the Braves' big Braves Major League pitcher, Little League team came to win an extra-inning ball game, 8-7, as Jim Teichert provided the swing run by himself.

Young Teichert walked to end of the Braves seventh.

Athlete of the Week

ste second, and took third on a passed ball. A second passed ball in a row got past Cub receiver Jerry Delmonico, and Teichert's scamp home with no play on him, for the tie-breaking score.

The Cubs picked up their six runs in the first on five walks, a hit, a bunt, an error, and a passed ball.

single, and a flock of wild pitches, passed balls and stolen bases. Larry Olling scored a home with a walk, and a couple of stolen bases, followed by Cory Lancaster, who duplicated his teammate's effort. Jim Campbell singled, Lancaster scored after Olling had taken home on the steal.

Mark Bucher was by a strike and scored as did Delmonico and Jim Nicholson on a sloppy Braves defensive play. The Cubs sent 11 men to the plate in their first inning, but save for one run in the second, an a double by Campbell, a single by Donnie Kennedy and a dropped third strike, the Cubs scoring power fell silent.

The game tied the game in the fifth as Anderson received a walk, and completed the circuit on two infield popup hits, and a stolen base.

Horoscope

FOR SATURDAY
CANCER (June 22-July 23) — The more promise of financial return is not enough. Refuse to invest in anything you think less than a sure thing.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Job difficulties can bring you added stimulation. Seek and find interesting rewards for labor this Saturday.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Proposals advanced by another may be more risky than they appear at first bearing. Think things over before you decide.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — A balance between emotional and intellectual response should see you weathering the day's storm with common sense.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Established principles of business must not be allowed to go down the drain simply because this was not planned as a work day.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Take whatever disappointment comes with good grace. You should be able to see yourself and others through the bluer skies.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Routine Saturday chores must be handled with custom today. Health hazards lurk where you least expect them.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Proposals made by others may not be completely in your best interests. Consider all with a jaundiced eye.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Keep alert to the promises of afternoon and evening. Morning hours must be tolerated with neither pain nor despair.
ARIES (March 22-April 20) — If you overreact to morning upset, you may well regret the good that lies in store for you during afternoon and evening.
Taurus (April 21-May 21) — Current family problems with newcomers to the community. Now is the time to pick up votes for the unpopular popularity contest.
GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Sidestep a downgrading of your affairs by slow, steady work throughout the day. Build where others would tear down.
